

Gross Domestic Product (GDP) and 2012 Olympic Medals

The fifteen countries with GDP over $1,000,000 million USD (over $1 trillion) are shown here. Other facts:

- The combined GDP of the 18 countries that won only a single medal in London—whether gold, medal or silver—was $1,391,044 million USD, or less than a tenth of the U.S. GDP.
- The country with the highest GDP to win a single medal (bronze) was Saudi Arabia, with a GDP of $434,666 million USD (3% of U.S. GDP).
- The country with the lowest GDP to win a single medal (gold) was Grenada, with a GDP of $776 million USD (.005% of U.S. GDP).

* Gross Domestic Product (GDP) in millions of U.S. dollars.

Source:
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_countries_by_GDP_\(nominal\))

† Total medal count at 2012 Summer Olympics.

Source:
<http://www.london2012.com/medals/medal-count/>

Marketing • Research
 Web • Creative
www.askpivot.com